Health Integrated Enjoys Steady Growth

Innovative healthcare company opens new office outside of Seattle, expands workforce.

Tampa, Fla. --- Health Integrated, the leading Targeted Population Health Management company focused on the critical interplay between medical and psychosocial health, is expanding its workforce to include more than 40 additional healthcare professionals for its new office in Lynnwood, Wash. The new site is the Company's third location in the United States.

"We are proud to add Lynnwood as our newest home," says Shan Padda, Health Integrated's chairman and chief executive officer. "The greater Seattle area is home to a wonderful population base of experienced healthcare professionals, many of whom we hope to bring on board to help patients successfully navigate a complex healthcare system."

Health Integrated's expansion into the Seattle area is in keeping with its corporate strategy of steady, incremental growth, even during a challenging national economic environment. The privately held company continues to grow with new or renewed customer agreements, new product enhancements and service offerings and new hires. Health Integrated maintains its headquarters in Tampa, Fla., and a technology center in Pleasanton, Calif., and currently employs 200 people nationwide.

The City of Lynnwood has been focusing on attracting new businesses and increasing employment opportunities as part of its citywide economic development plan. "The decision by Health Integrated is a testament that Lynnwood meets both long-term corporate needs of business, and the individual needs of employees. We remain focused on attracting healthy businesses and quality jobs to our community," says Don Gough, Mayor of Lynnwood.
